NOW PLAYING THROUGH OCTOBER 23

STUDIO THEATRE EXTENDS ALAN BENNETT'S COMEDY *THE HABIT OF ART

“A production so polished that it could open on Broadway as is.”—The Wall Street Journal

With the highest ticket sales in the past five years, The Habit of Art is a runaway hit, and The Studio Theatre is pleased to announce the extension of Alan Bennett's *The Habit of Art. Critics and audiences alike are raving about the US premiere of the latest play by Alan Bennett (The History Boys, Talking Heads). Don't miss the show that critics are calling “wise” (The Washington Post) and “extraordinarily funny, deeply revealing” (Washingtonian).

The Habit of Art is an unvarnished look at the lives of two great artists—and a peak into the backstage joys and difficulties of making theatre. Deep in the bowels of London's National Theatre, rehearsals for a new play go apace: Benjamin Britten is having trouble with his latest opera and seeks out his collaborator, poet W. H. Auden, after a 25-year separation. Between visits by a rent boy and a biographer—whom Auden briefly mistakes for the rent boy—these aging artists wrestle with their desires, their jealousies, the ephemeral connection between creativity and inspiration, and all the reasons their friendship fell apart.

MORE PRAISE FOR *THE HABIT OF ART

“Delightful... an actorly home run. You'll have a grand time.”—Washington City Paper

“It takes a really refined actor to get away with mischief onstage, and at the Studio Theatre Ted van Griethuysen is offering not one but two sly turns—both as the irascible British poet W. H. Auden and as the prickly thespian playing him.” —The Washington Post

“[The Habit of Art] is an extraordinarily funny, deeply revealing look at the creation of theater from start to finish. Bennett's sense of humor, as wistful and self-effacing as it is blindingly sharp, is unfailing.”—Washingtonian

“Hilarious, touching, and thought provoking. The entire cast is fantastic.”—Maryland Theatre Guide

THE STUDIO THEATRE INFORMATION:

The Studio Theatre is Washington's premiere venue for contemporary theatre, "where local audiences will find today's edgiest playwrights" (Variety). Founded in 1978 by Joy Zinoman, the theatre is in its second season under the leadership of Artistic Director David Muse. Muse is joined by Keith Alan Baker, Managing Director/Artistic Director, 2ndStage; Serge Seiden, Associate Producing Artistic Director; and Morey B. Epstein, Executive Director of Institutional Development.

One of the most respected midsized theatres in the country, The Studio Theatre produces the work of today's greatest writers, augmented by occasional productions of modern classics, performed by acclaimed actors in intimate spaces. Studio's programming, while purposefully eclectic, emphasizes plays of sophistication and style with true literary and theatrical merit. The five plays of The Studio Theatre Season form the core of its work, and are complemented by its Special Events, which bring unique performances and one-of-a-kind events to Washington DC; the rawer, frequently irreverent productions of The Studio 2ndStage; and the Studio Lab, in its inaugural season, which is dedicated to stripped-down productions of invigorating new work. Housed in a landmark complex that anchors the 14th Street Arts District, each of Studio's four theatres seats fewer than 225 patrons, giving Studio productions their signature intimacy. Throughout the Theatre's 34-year history, the quality of its work has been recognized by sustained community support as well as with 271 nominations and 55 Helen Hayes Awards for excellence in professional theatre. In addition, The Studio Theatre Acting Conservatory has trained over 10,000 students, many of whom have gone on to acclaimed careers across the country. A premiere cultural organization in Washington DC, The Studio Theatre serves more than 75,000 people annually and is proud to make a vital contribution to its neighborhood and city.
